Children - Our trust

These children are special

You only have to look at them to see it in their shining eyes.

Listen to their stories, and you hear it in their incredible resilience.

And consider this . how many children look at their life, say "This isn't good enough; I deserve better", and strike out for the city, the magnet of their dreams? Only one in a thousand.

We are privileged to work with these children, to show them that dreams must be nurtured, that their fate can be crafted by their own hearts and hands, and that the crowded, sometimes threatening world makes way for those with a firm resolve.

Sometimes, the stories of children we have worked with sound like fairy tales . a boy from the railway tracks selected to spend 6 months photographing the reconstruction of New York's World Trade Center. But it is not alchemy. The gold was always there, but buried by the grime of poverty, tarnished by the acid of mistrust and prejudice.

Over the years, we have learned to combat the prejudice, and replace it with displays of talent, whether in theater, dance, sports or academic study. If there is a magic in our work, it lies in the fact that the simplest of provisions . a safe place to sleep, a kind word at lunch . can transform injured souls into soaring lives.

Our work has expanded well beyond our early plans, driven by the courage and promise of these young people. And yet, we have only scratched the surface. Millions of dreams need our help to stay aloft. Be with us.

Genesis & Development

SALAAM BAALAK TRUST Genesis & Development

Salaam Baalak Trust (SBT) grew out of Nukkad . a street-based intervention program that began working with street children in and around New Delhi Railway Station in 1987. After the success of Mira Nair's film Salaam Bombay! in 1988, Salaam Baalak Trust was established to help promote such work, and took over Nukkad's activities a couple of years later.

Salaam Baalak Trust is dedicated to the care and protection of neglected street children, regardless of caste, color, creed or religion. We work in areas that are the raw, harsh underbelly of the city- on railway platform, at crowded bus stops, and in the by lanes around temples.

Our comprehensive services includes four long-term, full-care residential facilities, seven on-going contact point programs, and an emergency telephone help line for children in distress.

The mission of Salaam Baalak Trust is to provide a sensitive and caring environment to street and working children and children in distress. It seeks to provide such children a real childhood, and create an environment which allows them to explore and discover their skills and talent, and to realize their rights as citizens of this nation.

This 20 year young organization has already supported more than 50,000 children from all over the country. Our Children from early batches have returned to work with us and have joined the organization as employees. One group of SBT boys have taken our mission one step forward through Lakshya-Badhke Kadam or Goal -Forward Step. This is a peer-run community initiative that supports 100 street children with food, education and vocational training.

Children, who have left SBT and gone on to establish meaningful lives for themselves, embrace a wide variety of jobs and vocations. Our roots in the performing arts have enabled some to become highly regarded freelance photographers, dancers, choreographers, film makers, actors, puppeteers, and theatre directors. Others have been absorbed into steady jobs with companies such as Matrix, Café Coffee Day, Benetton, Pizza Hut, Meditech, DS Constructions (Toll Plaza), and Teamwork Productions.

CONTACT POINT

As suggested by the name, contact points are our first meeting place with children who have ~~landed~~ landed in the city, which is alien and often hostile to them. Contact points are located at railway stations and crowded places in the city, and are run as day care programs. The first objective is to send children back to their families. Where repatriation is not feasible, children are encouraged to join our shelter homes for full-time care. .

One important feature in most of our contact points is the peer education program, in which children who have a long association with SBT reach out to new arrivals, sharing their own stories, building trust, sharing information about SBT, and encouraging them to visit our contact points.

We currently have seven contact points. The main activities are:

- reaching out to new children
- counseling children to return to their families and helping trace them
- providing nutrition, clothing and toilet facilities
- education: non-formal, formal and open school
- comprehensive medical support
- counseling and referral to drug de-addiction programs
- recreational facilities: art and craft, music, out-door indoor games, local excursions, - and annual holidays in the hills
- creating awareness on child rights and adherence
- fostering a sense of communal harmony and an awareness of other religions, through observance of all major festivals
- creating an enabling environment for children through sensitization of stake holders
- networking with authorities such as law enforcement agencies, local civic bodies, and railways
- sensitization of adults who live on the streets with their children

GRP, New Delhi Railway Station

Situated on the first floor of the General Railway Police (GRP) station at New Delhi Railway Station, this is the first contact point we established, and is still a base from which to reach out to children who have 'landed' recently at the station. Young adults who have graduated from SBT provide peer outreach, which is key to the success of this center. Our long-standing presence here has also helped us build an excellent rapport with railway officials, the array of law enforcement agencies (Delhi Police, General Railway Police, Railway Protection Force, and Central Reserve Police Force), as well as other key constituencies such as porters, rickshaw pullers and shop-keepers.

During this period, this contact point worked with 312 children. We were able to restore 53 children to their families, 23 children were placed to other NGO, 07 children were admitted to formal schools, 275 children were to non formal education, 2 were education through NIOS & 2 children placed in jobs.

Over time, though, the center has evolved an integrated approach towards working with the community, especially in matters of health awareness, such as sexual and reproductive health, family planning, maternal health, HIV/AIDs, tuberculosis, and other life threatening diseases. FULL-CARE RESIDENTIAL CENTRES

Street children are extremely vulnerable to crime, disease, and sexual abuse. Because of their vulnerability, gang leaders are able to coerce them into drug-peddling and other organized crime. Aside from sending them home, the optimal solution for such children is a secure full-care shelter that is a refuge from the harshness of life on the street.

SBT has four full-care residential programs - Aasra, Apna Ghar and Armaan for boys, and Arushi for girls. Our seven contact points help to build awareness of our residential programs, as well as a sense of confidence in the organization. Some of the children who live in our shelters first learn of us when they call 1098, our Childline telephone number.

All SBT shelter homes offer:

- Security: Having faced physical and psychological trauma, these children need to get a sense of stability. SBT aims to provide a safe place that these children can call their own. Our experience shows that providing shelter is the greatest milestone in rehabilitating and mainstreaming these lost children.
- Education: Great emphasis is laid on formal schooling i.e. admitting children to regular private or public schools. Apart from this, some children also go through non-formal schooling, and the National Open School system of education. Children are assisted in their homework and are provided extra tuition/remedial classes as and when needed
- Clothing & Nutrition: Proper school uniforms, shoes, summer and winter dress and other daily wear clothes are provided to the children. Emphasis is laid on the provision of a balanced diet and nutritious food. The food is supplied through SBT's central kitchen.
- Health: The Trust employs full-time doctors to ensure the health of the children. Individual health records are maintained for each child, and regular medical check-ups track their progress. When pathological tests or detailed investigation are required, these are conducted at appropriate clinics. If necessary, external doctors or specialists are consulted.
- Sports: We have a full time sports coordinator for SBT. The children are trained in various sports like cricket, soccer and squash. Children also attend swimming and karate classes and participate in various local and inter-organizational games and sports competitions.
- Recreation: Boys and girls of the shelters learn dance and music from artists. Annual excursions and holiday tours are organized for children for at least 10 days to hill stations and tourist spots within the country. In addition, sight- seeing, outings, and movie-screenings are regular recreational activities for the children.
- Life Skills: Includes enhancing the decision-making ability of our children in their daily lives, as well as providing them with livelihood options through vocational training, education and job opportunities.

The program is supervised by a full-time life skills coordinator within the organization, and implemented by counselors throughout SBT, who work with structured modules and guidelines that have evolved from our extensive experience in the field.

- Income Generation: SBT children are involved in candle-making, macramé and papier mache work. Our products all at highly visible outlets such as Fabindia and Dilli Haat. The profits received are put into the bank savings accounts of children responsible for their production.
- Saving Schemes: Children whose earnings are banked are encouraged to maintain their balances, and incentives are given to them to build up their savings.
- Mental Health Programme: A team of mental health professionals headed by a senior psychiatrist. A core group of counselors and a clinical psychologist deliberates on issues like mental stress, depression, anxiety, communication skills, and techniques of counseling. SBT children undergo intense 'one to one' counseling and also 'group counseling' from time to time.
- Vocational Training: Is provided to children above 15 years, according to their interest and aptitude. SBT children have been trained in a wide variety of trades, such as multi media animation, film editing, photography, desk top publishing, web & graphic design, care- giving, housekeeping, computer applications, puppetry, karate, theatre and macramé.
- Skill development: training in crafts, music, needlecraft, handicraft etc are given to the children.
- Job Placement: After providing vocational training, SBT also assists children in gaining suitable employment. The trust supports promising candidates by providing small loans in order to help establish them in small-scale businesses or jobs.

SBT Shelter Home (AASRA): a safe haven (shelter home under JJ Act 2000)

Aasra, a 'safe haven' for street children, was established in the year 2004, to provide a safe space for boys between 5 and 13. It used to be called a 'night shelter, since a secure place in which to sleep was the most precious dream for children living on the street. With an in-house capacity of 50 children, Aasra is a recognized children's home which goes far beyond that basic need: we try to provide a nurturing and loving environment in which these boys can enjoy their childhood. All our boys are provided education (formal or non-formal), medical and health care and four meals a day. Since the children here are often very young, the primary task is to repatriate them to their families - which makes for a very mobile population.

This year 384 children provided shelter here, 265 were restored to their families, and 23 were placed with other NGOs. 384 children received non-formal education while they were here.

A total of 304 medical check-ups (606 times) were conducted during the year, resulting in:

• Ref. to hospital	---	53
• Hospitalization	---	03
• Tetanus injection	---	50
• Medical Investigation	---	128
• Eye checkup	---	03
• Dental Check up	---	53

APNA GHAR: a Children Home of achievers

“Our Home” is a literal translation of Apna Ghar, which has been the launch pad for dozens of children at SBT, who have been inspired to achieve something unique in their lives. Established in 1999, this shelter houses boys between 12 and 18, and is designed to intensively support those who have been with us for a long time. Every boy in Apna Ghar is encouraged to complete the 10th grade, which requires continuous academic and psychological support. At the same time, these boys are being groomed to enter mainstream society, which can be extremely stressful for those emerging from life in an institution. This grooming requires counseling and intervention in the areas of rational and independent thought, behavior modification, and adolescent stress. Theater and the performing arts, which have always been part of our work, help all-round development of the children. Depending on their abilities, boys at Apna Ghar either move on to higher education, or are enrolled in career-oriented courses.

Begun in 1999, with support from USAID and FHI, Arushi is now located in an airy and aesthetic new building in Gurgaon. Arushi shelters about 50 girls, ranging between 4 to 18 years. While SBT offers these girls all the educational and vocational inputs required for them to lead an independent adult life, we also educate them about their sexuality, reproductive health and rights.

Programme Components

EDUCATION: Salaam Baalak Trust believes that education is the window to opportunity and the key to development. Investment in the education of our children is the best and foremost means of empowering our children to become responsible citizens of the country. Education at SBT is not confined to school curriculum, but includes training in life skills, the performing arts, computer literacy, and exposure to tourist sights and the outdoors. We try to ensure basic literacy to every child that comes in, and for those children who stay with us, we aim for them to complete their 10th grade exams at the very least. Some of our children have done us proud by reaching university level.

We have a range of educational systems to cover the needs of every child we work with.

I-National Open School (distance mode of learning) The open school system is a blessing for street children, since many of them start schooling very late, and find it difficult to adapt to the formal and rigorous syllabus of school teaching.

Apart from Open Basic Education (OBE), we coordinate with NIOS for the students who appear for class 10 and 12 examinations. Special coaching classes are arranged at shelter homes for the students.

II-Regular School Enrollment: (Formal Education) There is no substitute to school education. It enables children to mix with other children from family-oriented backgrounds. Schooling also gives them a sense of routine and permanence in their lives. SBT children go either to local private schools situated in the vicinity of their shelters or to government schools.

III-Elementary education (Non Formal Education): Our elementary education program aims to stimulate an interest in education, as well as mainstream children into formal education. Virtually all children coming in contact with the trust are initially put into elementary education and later into other streams.

Our flexible non-formal education modules provide basic education and literacy, and cover child rights, computer literacy, general information, reading and recitation, health and hygiene, social skills, moral values, basic mathematics, and money management.

IV-Bridge courses & remedial education: Bridge education helps children to make up for breaks in their education. When the children flee their homes, education is a major casualty. The children find it difficult to get admission, especially in higher classes after a break. Our bridge courses enable them to cover the missed portions of the syllabus and make up for the lost time with intensive study and concise courses.

V- Mobile School-Chalta Firta School: This is an initiative conceived and supported by Government of NCT of Delhi and the UEE (Universalization of Elementary Education) Mission. The customized mobile van is equipped with the basic infrastructure of a classroom and a variety of teaching and learning aids. It focuses on children who are out of school and ensures that they receive non formal education and subsequently attend a regular school.

At each of its four stops, the van spends two hours in activities such as television screening, games, non-formal education, group discussions, and counseling on health, hygiene, social skills, and child rights. At the end of each session, supplementary nutrition is also provided, and first aid made available. On Saturdays, our staff organizes sessions on drug de-addiction, the problems of girl children, and HIV/AIDS.

HEALTH: Health is invariably a neglected issue amongst street and working children. They live in unhygienic conditions, have poor nutrition, and cultivate unhealthy habits, all of which makes them vulnerable to various contagious diseases. For example, tuberculosis is a curable disease which is life-threatening if ignored, but those living on the street have little access to medical services and health information which we take for granted. Our health program includes a number of components which take care of the special needs of these children. These include an awareness of safe sexual practices, in the absence of which they are susceptible to STDs and HIV/AIDS; interventions to deal with substance abuse, and mental health programs.

SBT's medical program is headed by a medical coordinator, while two doctors regularly visit the centers, and one covers the health post at GRP, New Delhi Railway Station. At the same time, each of the centers has a point person for the health care of children, a medical social workers trained on regular basis to deal with various health issues.

The important health care activities are; first aid, screening and medical check-ups, medical investigation, referral for treatment and hospitalization, screening and treatment of STD/STIs, and voluntary tests for HIV/AIDS etc. We also support the long-term treatment needs of children through institutional linkages and referrals. SBT also organizes health awareness camps.

MENTAL HEALTH: If mental health problems amongst the children and adolescents of developing countries is found to be 10 to 20 %; if ICMR (Indian Council of Medical Research) study reveals it is 12.8 % in India, and WHO predicts a 50 % increase in prevalence by 2020, one can imagine the gravity of this issue amongst street children, who often live a traumatic life on the streets. The fact that they are not nurtured in a family environment probably increases their vulnerability to emotional and behavioral problems. It is against this backdrop that the mental health team in SBT was constituted in 2003.

The objectives of this program are: identification and management of mental health/ behavioral problems in children and adolescents; building awareness of mental health issues amongst all staff; developing protocols in key areas such as child abuse and protections, suicidal risks; dealing with learning difficulties and academic issues of children through special education program; and supporting staff through individual and group work.

The team operates through mental health assessment and interventions. The interventions include individual counseling, pharmacology, rehabilitation, psycho-education, and supportive work all tied through comprehensive case management. During the year, 505 children received psycho-social support, and 35 special cases went into referral.

LIFE SKILLS EDUCATION: Life skills education aims to develop the ability of an individual to deal with the variety of situations that life throws up. Such education helps in the overall development of children, including physical, mental and social well-being, building greater self-confidence in life.

The modules that we follow are developed jointly by Family Health International and HIV/AIDS Alliance, and include subjects like: knowing myself, communication, relationships, decision making, coping with emotions, growing up, preventing and living with HIV, substance abuse & reaching one's goals. These modules are facilitated through discussions, stories, drama, puppets and role play, songs and poems, indoor and outdoor games and question box.

The modules have been modified to suit the needs of street children. Last year, we conducted many life skills sessions, and we can now emphatically state that they have had a huge positive impact, which is tangible in increased self-awareness, less risky behavior, greater ability to deal with peer pressure, and a greater commitment to their future and their careers.

HIV/AIDS PREVENTION & CARE PROGRAM: Today HIV is the largest health and development problem in the lives of street children. Children live on streets without any support network and are a high-risk group for HIV due to .

- Lack of knowledge of sex, sexuality, HIV/AIDS, STDs and Condom usage.
- Lack of access to health services for treatment of STDs
- Un-protected sex practices including multiple partner sex, rape of young boys and girls and various forms of drug abuse.

SBT started addressing the HIV issues in the year 1997 with a small-scale prevention intervention program, and became a partner of the NGO AIDS Forum that ran the model counseling centre at Safdarjung Hospital. Today, the Trust has a comprehensive HIV/AIDS program of prevention, linked with care and support.

The safe space that we provide in our shelters is a key contributor to AIDS prevention; the other strategic components of the program are value education (physical, mental & spiritual development), peer education, information, education and communication inputs; life skills education; and early diagnosis for STD/STIs.

PERFORMING ARTS: Creative and performing arts has always been one of the mainstays of our work with the children. For many children, performances provide an avenue to express themselves, and to gain self-confidence. Our work in this field covers a variety of disciplines, including street plays, theatre for the stage, dance and puppetry.

Annual Play: Over the years, SBT has built up a well-grounded reputation in terms of the quality and commitment of its theatre. Since 1997, the SBT theatre group has given a public performance every year. Aside from acting, the children play a significant role developing or adapting the script, designing costumes and producing masks.

Street Plays: The theatre group of Salaam Baalak Trust created and modified several street plays on issues like health and hygiene, re-forestation, child rights, HIV/AIDS, diabetes and drugs.

SPORTS: Sports are an integral part of the upbringing of the children at all SBT shelters and centers. Sports not only help the children keep fit and athletic, but also give them an opportunity to learn about group dynamics and teamwork. We have a coordinator for sports and games to organize various events for children, and to network with outside events and competitions.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING: Vocational training becomes a critical link for our children to enter the mainstream of society. In order to qualify for vocational training, SBT children have to complete 18 years, or clear their 10th standard board exam. Children choose a vocation according to their interests, but the assessment of a career counselor and staff is available to help them match their ability with the training they want to undergo.

In total, 131 children received vocational training during the year, including 74 children who went through computer literacy programs. The popular choices were Master Desk Top Publishing, web and graphic designing, multi-media animation, film editing, C++ software, care-giving, house-keeping, puppetry, karate, theatre, macramé and photography. Some of the institutes which provided training were VIMHANS, ITI- Push Road, MAAC, Arena Multi-media, Taj Mahal Hotel, Mansingh Road, Vivek Sahni Design House, The Ishara Puppet Theatre Trust, YMCA & Ramakrishna Institute of Computers.

JOB PLACEMENT & REHABILITATION: Placement in jobs is the final act in the process of bringing children into the mainstream. However, we maintain contact with these young adults to ensure that they find stability, and then growth, in their work. During the year, 30 children became independent as a result of finding jobs with organizations that include DS Constructions, Unitech International, Vivek Sahni Design House, Pizza Hut Inc, Ishara Puppet Theatre Trust, Teamwork Films and Tata Sky.

ANNUAL EDUCATIONAL TOUR:

SBT organized its much-awaited annual educational tours in June this year. Two groups from Boys shelter homes (90 children and staff) went to Kerala, 40 children & staff from SBT Shelter Home went to Dehradun and one group from contact points (84 children and staff) went to Sattal and Nainital.

These tours, which take the children away from the rough environs of the streets and the railway station, give them the space to think of a vastly different life. This time, set in nature, inspires and supports activities like the study of flora and fauna, creative writing, painting and drawing. Outdoor sports like trekking, swimming and boating open up new realms of fun.

CELEBRATIONS: In celebrating the spirit of childhood, celebration of festivals play an important role. At SBT, we celebrate every festival that interests our children, including Christmas, Holi, Diwali, Id, Lohri, and Children's Day, as also the national festivals of Independence Day and Republic Day. Special meals on all such occasions are greatly anticipated.

REPATRIATION: We believe that the family is the best place for a child. When we come into contact with a child, we try to trace his/her family through a process carefully developed and implemented by professional counselors and trained staff members. Wherever possible, we ask the family members to take their children back from the trust; if this is not feasible, children are escorted home by the staff. When girls are being restored, female staff are engaged. During restoration of a child, the staff counsel and sensitize the family members to prevent the child from running away again. We also enlist the village head and school headmaster for support and supervision during the process of reintegrating the child into the community. This year, 414 children were restored to their families.

VOLUNTEER PROGRAM: Over a period of time, SBT has developed a structured program for better facilitation of the volunteers and interns in the organization. We receive volunteers from all over the world who come to spend time with the children in teaching a skill, or to participate in various activities. The areas in which volunteers participate are teaching english, training tour guides with communicative skill, marketing the Salaam city walk, documentation, teaching school subjects, non-formal education, general knowledge, computers, theatre activities and counseling.

The process of induction of a volunteer starts with a city walk, goes onto meeting with the volunteer coordinator, visiting project sites and finally imbedding into our activities. Each volunteer receives an information docket, with the details of projects, contact information, code of conduct and emergency procedures.

Collaborative projects

Samarth- A project on HIV Prevention funded by USAID/FHI:

After the successful implementation of IMPACT project, in October 2006 Salaam Baalak Trust received the mandate to implement Samarth- a demonstration project aimed at strengthening the ability to effectively deal with HIV/AIDS. If successful, the project will reduce the risky behaviour of street and working children and youth in New Delhi, and reduce their vulnerability to HIV.

There are four strategic components of Samarth:

- 1: Undertake strategic behavior communication (SBC) initiatives to reduce the risk behavior of street youth and children, and create an enabling environment.
- 2: Address basic needs of street and working children through provision of child and youth friendly services.
- 3: Develop and implement a quality assurance and quality improvement system.
- Strategy 4: Serve as a learning site for other organizations working on HIV prevention among vulnerable youth and children.

Community Based Care & Support (CBCS), funded by MAMTA Health Institute for Mother & Child /Abbot

The CBCS project is an extension of our prevention effort. The goal of the project is to enhance the quality of life of the children living in and around the New Delhi Railway Station, Paharganj and in our new areas of work, at Saket and Old Delhi Railway Station. It targets 1800 vulnerable children and CAAs (Children Affected by AIDS).

The important program components are: formation of children's support group; effective peer education; involvement of community stakeholders/inducers; strengthening linkages with service providers; capacity-building of project staff and Childline staff, and provision of ongoing support services such as non-formal education, nutrition, health, and vocational training to the children.

Salaam Award Project:

The Salaam Award is a special program of the %Duke of Edinburgh+International Award Program for Young People in India, and began in 1999 with 20 young participants from SBT. There are three levels of the award: bronze, silver and gold. To gain an Award, the participant has to fulfill requirements in four sections: service, adventurous journey, skills and physical recreation. Participating in a residential project is mandatory to receive the gold award.

Community Foundation for Children & Aging (CFCA):

Care Foundation for Children and Aging (CFCA) is a US based agency that facilitates a sponsorship program over 26 countries globally. It focuses on fostering and enhancing comprehensive and holistic development of children, and care for the Aging. The sponsorship program was initiated through Trees for Life in the year 1996.

It is a unique program which ties people with resources with people in need, and in the process, seeks to build bonds of love and friendship. For the street children who have been with us for long, and aspire to a better future, CFCA has played a vital role in their holistic development.

Our association with CFCA began with the sponsorship of 25 children, and has now benefited more 300 children from our shelters and from the community. Today, 34 of our children are sponsored by this program.
